- The latest news of OUR website –

We still adding to all the attractions for our visitors to enjoy in fact we are building more and more pages as time passes. Truckies Corner, Health and Lifestyle and Wealth Creation are all now on-line and we finally got Poets Corner on the site last week, so all you budding poets should start sending us your poetry or sort stories.

In the planning stage for the rev heads we have an Aussie Speedway and Street Machines section and for brides to be, the Wedding section is planned to be expanded into its own website within our website. Although we are concentrating on the AML-AM Club first, we are still building new pages with the Gold Coast and Cairns Locality pages being developed at the moment.

In the meantime we are building the database and web pages needed for the AML-AM programme which we can NOW accept new Members for, so upgrade to our new Key and Corporate Memberships and enjoy the benefits. To upgrade NOW simply email us with your upgrade request. You will soon be able to upgrade directly on the site.

Remember -

AML-AM Club Membership is open

Grab your friends and associates to join the AML-AM (Affiliate Membership) Club. Members not only receive special access to the Members Forum and Resources Library where everyone will find something of interest and assistance, but they can now help promote AML and earn cash and discount rewards. Tell us what you think by adding a comment in the Members Forum. Or start your own business and build an AML-AM bonus grabbing team.

Businesses have the opportunity to advertise on the Forum, BUT, please be mindful that it IS a forum and keep any transcripts short and to the point. The BEST option is a simple one or two sentence comment telling the members of any special offers you have, and for how long. Make sure there is an email address – you can also have a link in your profile – but give them plenty of opportunity to FIND YOU for more info.

NOTE: Businesses NOT advertising on the site will not be allowed to advertise in the Forum.

Invite prospective members to go to the following link:

<http://www.australiamyland.com.au/members.html>

You will notice new updated links to the Members Resources Library on the site. Thanks for the help to those members who suggested a need. There still so much to do, so we appreciate the feedback from our members. We DO NOT view it as criticism and simply enjoy knowing people are looking at these things. So keep your input coming.

- Why we Read and Write Poetry –

by Lyle A. Stacpoole – BA (Music / Communication Studies)

There are three basic reasons why we read poetry:-

- 1. to enjoy words,
- 2. to gain insight into a persons thoughts, listen to their story or have a picture painted in words and,
- 3. to have our thought process provoked into thinking about an issue or situation.

More books on poetry are sold in Australia than anywhere in the world, and Australians are among the foremost writers of poetry both in the past and in the present. Some critics attribute this to the placement of a 'pioneering youthfulness' of European settlement alongside the ancient and rugged landmarks of the country and the seemingly age-old indigenous history.

Anywhere you go in Australia there is a romantic mystery about its presence. It is in the eerie outback silence, the roar of thunderous waves on an endless circum-navigating ocean shoreline of rocks and open sandy beaches and the strange sounds of the unique wildlife. You feel it in the mountains that seem like they have been around forever and by the quite creeks and streams that criss-cross the continent; in the parched desert and arid rocky limestone plains and while sitting under the strange mallee trees or majestic pines and oaks.

There is so much to inspire the poet in Australia, the people, the country the events of pioneering this rugged land. Poets like C.J. Dennis, A.B. Banjo Patterson and Henry Lawson are among the most well known, but listen to the inspiring and thought-provoking words of Nancy Cato, Judith Wright, Ian Mudie and Colin Thiele; well really, WHO do we list here? It is perhaps a show of disrespect to not mention a hundred other names that should appear in it.

AML-AM Members can now send us in their efforts at writing, whether it be poems, song lyrics or short stories (short as in less than 500 words). A panel will be selecting the very best of them and including them in a book that will then be offered for sale and those contributing Members will earn a royalty from it. The book will be sold on-line as an e-Book and as a hard copy and Members will receive a special discount. So get onto the keyboard and start writing, all acceptable efforts will be placed on the website with the best being chosen for inclusion in our new book that has already been started.

All submissions MUST be in a digital file format, preferably a WORD document or similar.

HAVE FUN NOW!

Members Contributions

- Special Offer

They have started to disappear so you will need to be quick to pick up one of the last we have! The latest musical contribution from Leigh Kirley and his band. Leigh has just played his gig at the Urban Country Music Festival at Caboolture which is getting bigger and bigger each year.

On his latest album there are some great songs and special guest appearances by Jon English, Brigit O'Donahue and Gary Terrill. Titled 'Blood, Sweat and Gears' it is a balanced mix of country, rock and jazz but do not ask me to 'classify' it. Leigh has a style of his own that is somewhere in the middle of a number of influences and uniquely exciting to listen to.

SO! We have 7 2 FREE cds to give away! First in on the buzzer gets them. Simply go to the Members Resources Library and fill in the request form there asking for the cd. Remember to give us your Membership number. And do not forget to tell others about it. You can hear more of Leigh music, and soon you will be able to listen to some from the latest album, on his website at <http://www.leighkirley.ws>.

Thanks Leigh!

Keeping the Office Desk Clean. Part Two

Last time we spoke briefly about keeping your computer running by keeping it clean and tidy. This time we are going to help you understand how the things you keep on your computer are stored. Most people, when the computer asks them to save something, click okay or save and forget about it, then cannot work out later where the dickens it is. So here we go.

Imagine your computer as a filing cabinet or better still, a library. When you walk into a library you see rows of books all sorted by subjects and styles. Your computer is the same. The first thing to learn is the difference between a FILE and a FOLDER. A FILE is the piece of information you work on, build or create. It is the picture you want to save or the video or song. It is the document you spend hours writing or the presentation you created. All these individual items are files. They are stored in folders. So it is like your filing cabinet, pieces of paper kept in a manila folder which is then kept in a drawer.

The files will all have different icons next to the file name which indicates the usual program that file is opened in. For example a Word document usually has a blue W in a blue box and an Excel spreadsheet is a green X in a green box. Most of the folders are represented by a yellow manila folder icon. There are a number, in fact quite a lot, of folders that you will not open because they hold the programs and files needed to just run your computer and the programs you use on it.

You will mainly be concerned with just one folder, and YOU will create and add new folders inside it. That is the My Documents folder, simply called Documents on Microsoft's new Vista.

All the files you save are saved either in this folder automatically or in your My Computer folder, the one that holds all other folders on your computer. So when the dialogue box** comes up when you ask the computer, or more regularly when the computer asks you (it knows better than us!!), to save a file, you will NAME the file .. BUT ... you need to see WHERE it is being saved. It tells you at the top of the dialogue box, in the saved in section. You can navigate up and down your library folders and select WHICH folder you want to save the file in. BUT you need to remember WHERE you saved it. This is the one common mistake of even experienced computer users, believe me, I still do it regularly without thinking, especially when saving attachments from an e-Mail.

It is not hard to learn how to create a new folder, or to navigate between folders, there are usually icons somewhere at the top of the dialogue box; again, you will create a new folder within the folder shown at the top of the dialogue box that appears when you ask to create a new folder.

** A Dialogue Box is a floating box that appears with instructions, warnings or text boxes for the input of information, such as when you save a file or attach a file to an e-Mail. Be careful NOT to open what may appear to be dialogue boxes when using the Internet, these are often pop-up boxes that can be dangerous if you DO NOW UNDERSTAND them, or if you did not prompt them.

Note too that these instructions MAY not be strictly accurate for YOUR computer system but they are general formats and are the case in respect to Microsoft operating systems

Good luck everyone I wish you all every success with your businesses, until next time, “you be good”

Regards

Rob Wilson

REMEMBER!

We and our team at AML are in the business of building web pages for the internet and as such, we are happy to receive referrals to pages that need work completed, updated or overall advice on improving the performance of the site.

If you are considering building a new website or wish to ask question on how you can improve a site please lets us know at enquiries@australiamyland.com.au

Great News for AML and Brisbane Sandstone Supplies:

One of our sites, a brand new site for Lani Machado from Kimberley Sandstone called Brisbane Sandstone Supplies, has been found by Queensland's Channel Nine who have done a report for their Extra program which will be screened either this Saturday the 17th or the following Saturday. Lani is one of our Recommended Suppliers for our new Affiliate programme.
